CARMEL LIBRARY

EDITORIAL

The resignation of Police Chief August Englund tabled by the Carmel City Council last Monday evening, is due for consideration at the regular meeting of that body tomorrow night. Rumors are rife as to the probable action of the council in this matter. Sentiment is strong for the retention of Gus as chief of police. Carmelites find it hard to visualize any one else in that position.

Should the council accept the chief's resigtion, candidates are not lacking for the job. Some of them are undoubtedly well qualified to fill the position. There has been some talk of an outside man being selected. It would seem, however, that it would hardly be necessary to go out of town for a capable man. One of the outstanding virtues of Gus Englund has been his understanding of the traditions and desires of Carmel. Surely a local man would be much more likely to prove a worthy successor in this respect.

Purchase of Water Works Up for Consideration

The Carmel city council plans to act tomorrow night on the proposal to form a Monterey Peninsula utility district with a view to acquiring and operating the local water works district.

A resolution asking the county supervisors to call a special election for the peninsula area in May for the purpose of submitting to the voters the question of the formation of the distict will be presented to the council for consideration.

While the general attitude seems favorable to the proposal there are some who would prefer that the question be left until the joint public utilities board has completed its investigation of the status of the rate case pending before the state railroad commission. The case will be resumed February 14 in Monterey. The Carmel member of this investigating board is Frederic P. Howard, who is acting as its chairman. Other members are William Fiddes of Pacific Grove and A. G. Metz of Monterey.

Japanese to Play Shakuhashi Friday

Musical interest of the week centers around T. Tamada, said to be the greatest Shakuhashi player in the country, and Henry Cowell, authority on world musics, whom the Denny-Watrous Gallery is presenting on Friday evening, Februa.y 8, at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Cowell will introduce Mr. Tamada, whom he has been able to inte.est in a public appearance through personal friendship, and describe the background of Budd.ist Temple music as well as the meaning of the compositions played by Mr. Tamada.

The Shakuhashi is one of the oldest of all instruments, being said to date in China before 2600 B. C. It was brought to Japan about the time of the beginning of the Christian era and made the most sacred instrument of the temple. It was never played outside the temple until about fifty years ago, and no other instrument was allowed to play with it.

The Shakuhashi is considered the most difficult of all instruments to play. T. Tamada is the greatest player upon it in America and pupils come to study with him from all parts of the country.

Women's Club Boon To Visitors

Visitors and new residents in Carmel are enthusiastic about the variety and quality of the different sections of the Carmel Woman's Club.

The current events section, for instance, is far more than that. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Willis G. White, the section is fast becoming a center for the discussion of world problems. There are many women in Carmel who have much to contribute to a group like this.

Those who heard Dr. Mary L. Benton at the last section meeting were immensely stimulated by her talk and are looking forward to another meeting with her.

For next week Mrs. White has secured two interesting speakers. An announcement of the program will be in next Tuesday's Sun.

For this week, the Woman's Club plans a meeting of the book section on Wednesday, February 6, at 10 a. m., in the Girl Scout House, and a meeting of the garden section at 10 a. m. Thursday, February 7, at the residence of Mrs. C. H. Lowell, San Antonio and Tenth. For the book section, Mrs. A. H. Yocum will review "Mary Peters" by Mary Ellen Chase and Mrs. Kathryn Wood will take "Hawiian Gardens" as her subject for the garden section.

The bird study group will hold no meetings until further notice.

League of Women Voters Plan An Active Month

Anticipating the re-convening of the California legislature in March, the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters, under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger of Carmel, is putting in a month of exceptional activity and study.

The Honorable Chris G. Jesperson, state senator from San Luis Obispo county, will be the speaker at the regular monthly luncheon meeting of the League at Holman's Solarium on February 13. He will discuss the League's active legislative prog.am at Sacramento, including unemployment insurance, reorganization of the department of social service, orphan a.d, the proposed separate board for the women's prison at Tehachapi and the bill which provides for state co-operation with the federal government for better employment exchanges.

Guests at this luncheon will include Ellis E. Patterson, assemblyman from this district, and possibly Senator E. H. Tickle.

* * *

Mrs. Ethel P. Young of Pebble Beach has been appointed to serve on the executive board of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters in place of Mrs. Fenton Foster who has resigned. Mrs. T. G. Emmons of Salinas is the new board member from that district.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger has issued a reminder that the registration for all school elections closes on February 16. The notice will be found elsewhere in this issue.

* * *

The group of League members studying government and its operation met last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Voss in Salinas. The first chapter of "Taxes and Tax Trends," written by Mrs. Katherine A. Frederic, national chairman of the group, was reviewed by Mrs. Voss and its

Guests of Mrs. Voss from the local League were Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger, Mrs. Susan Chakurian, Mrs. J. P. Sandholdt, Mrs. Harold Mosher, Mrs. Fenton Foster, Mrs. Annie Norwood, Mrs. Akger Fast, Mrs. Fred Workman and Mrs. Guy Curtis. The next meeting of this study group will be in Carmel at the home of Mrs. J. B. Adams, on February 20.

* * *

The Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters has arranged for an illustrated lecture to be given by Mr. F. F. Barbour at the Sunset school auditorium, Friday evening, February 22, at 7:45. Mr. Barbour's subjejct will be "Following California's Wild Flowers from the Sierras to the Sea." The lecture is to be given as a benefit for the Katherine Philips Edson memorial.

Katherine Philips Edson, at one time president of the Monterey Peninsula League, served for many years on the board of the California League and also on the national board.

The site of the redwood grove, which is being purchased as a memorial through contributions by her many friends, has already been selected. Plans are being made to erect a rustic redwood gateway to mark the enclosure and designate the Edson Memorial Grove. It is hoped to have the gate in place before summer travel into the redwood empire begins.

Study group meetings for this week are as follows:

Feb 6, Wednesday, 1:30 p. m., Government and International Cooperation, Mrs. S. Chakurian, chairman. Meeting at the home of Mrs. T. W. Van Ess, Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

February 7, Thursday, 2:00 p. m., Government and the Legal Status of Women, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Oyer, Peter's Gate, Monterey.

February 12, 2:00 p. m., Gov-

EFFICIENCY IN CO-OPERATION.

The Federal-State Employment Service as inaugurated by the Wagner-Peyser Act of Congress, June 6, 1933, will soon come before the California legislature for ratification. This is our first opportunity to affiliate and it is to be hoped that our law makers will not overlook its advantages.

At the present time, three forms of employment insurance exist in California. The United States employment service is for veterans only and has two offices, one in San Francisco and the other in Los Angeles. The State employment service operates exchanges in ten cities, with separate divisions for men and women in San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles. The Sacramento office has a woman worker in the men's headquarters.

Los Angeles includes a colored division. In addition to these we have the national re-employment service, temporarily organized to provide labor for the P. W. A.

Under the new Federal-State plan there would be available to California this year from the Federal government a maximum sum of $138,780, to be matched by an equal sum appropriated by the state. This new service would absorb the present state and federal services and provide a state-wide system of exchanges conducted along the lines prescribed by the Wagner-Peyser Act.

The Federal - State service would give to California adequately financed exchanges in every county, administered by a highly qualified personnel, impartially selected under civil service.

These exchanges would be so organized in different departments as to take care of the commercial class, the farm workers, the veterans, women, and industrial workers. Thus would be eliminated duplication of effort and more efficient service would be secured through co-ordination, a trained personnel and sufficient funds.

To affiliate with this federal service it is necessary that the legislature ratify the governor's acceptance. There must be an appointment by the governor of a chief of division of state employment agencies and also a state advisory council of citizens.

Affiliation will also necessitate a reorganization of California's state employment service to meet federal demands of efficiency, procedure and administrative personnel, in addition to the appropriation of funds adequate to meet the offered federal aid, in order to make this standardized service possible.

There seems no question as to the wisdom of taking this step. Certainly the present methods have proved themselves woefully inadequate to meet the demands of the past few years. Co-operation with the federal government seems the only plausible solution.

FATHERS AND SONS

It is not uncommon to observe, even in a city the size of Carmel, that the greater success a man makes the less likely is his son to accomplish anything worthy of comment.

Perhaps there is a logical reason for this. Few parents are so insensible to the welfare of their childen as to give them no training in the first principles of character building. But when childhod is past, it is the inclination of the majority of parents to make things as soft for their sons and daughters as their means will allow.

This is a mistaken kindness and obviously is unfair. Young people under such enervating conditions fail to develop initiative, ambition, or a sense of responsibility. This is not their fault, but that of the doting parent whose love for them leads him to make life easier for them than it perhaps was for him. He loses sight of the fact that is was this very battling with difficulties, strict attention to business, and hard necessity that made him a success.

One can see the foolishness of continuing to lead a child after it has learned to walk. He will soon become dependent on the guiding hand.

The young person who makes a place for himself will have infinitely more strength of character than the one who simply steps into a place that has been prepared for him and which he more or less perfunctorily fills.

To help a youth to help himself is the best thing that can be done for him. If he leans on a prop throughout the period of youthful enthusiasm, he will be helpless when the prop gives way.

There is only one mitigating aspect of the situation: if he sinks sufficiently deep into incompetency, his sons will be compelled to sink or swim and thus restore the balance.

DON'T KILL THE LEAD DOG.

The Saturday Evening Post recently published a symbolic cartoon which illustrates with remarkable aptness political abuse of industry.

The cartoon shows a dog team and driver, against a background of Northern snows. The team has been drawing a tremendous load of bundles, labeled High Costs, Unbalanced Budget, Government Spending and Government Competition in Business. Apparently the dogs are weary and are unable to go farther without rest. The driver, who typifies Political Radicalism, is not willing to pause. Instead he is beating to death with a club labeled Taxes, the lead dog named American Industry. The second dog, Expansion, has collapsed in the snow, tongue hanging out, eyes closed. The fourth dog, Capital Goods, is exhausted, as is the last dog, Employment, which looks as if the last dog, Employment, were about to give up the ghost.

Severe as this caricature is, it is eminently justified. If American business is to continue to pul its heavy load, it must have confidence. It must be given a chance. It must expand and develop. It must employ men. Instead, however, all units of government seem trying to outdo each other in wielding the tax club. Excessive taxes close factories, confiscate homes and farms, prevent construction, destroy employment and investment, and drive capital into hiding.

SCOTTISH MUSICAL PLAYERS COMING

Hofmann, Stravinsky — Carmel brings to itself the best of all attractions. Now comes the most interesting announcement that the Denny-Watrous Gallery has made arrangements to bring the far-famed Scottish Musical Players to Carmel on two evenings, March 8 and 9. Three entirely different programs will be given—"Bonnie Prince Charlie," "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush" and "The Cotter's Saturday Night." These great singing-actors, now on their second trans-continental tour, and at present playing a three-week engagement at the Columbia theatre in San Francisco, will come with their bagpipes and their kilts and their company of professional artists.

Enjjoying the week-end in Carmel were Miss Clarissa Bennett of Lincoln, Neb., and the Misses Elizabeth Eh.man and Jane Rosenfeld, of Portland, Ore. They were registered at the La Ribera hotel.

PLANTING IN MASSES

Wherever we go these lovely sooner or later to the garden.

A subject close to the heart of all home lovers. Something in this balmy air stirs us to impatience with the slowness of nature and, as we are over-flowing with good health and enthusiasm, we naturally turn to help. Armed with pruning shears, catalogues, seeds, spades and hoes, we begin.

The garden, at least, is one spot where we may reign supreme. It is a place to express spring days, the subject drifts our true personality, and show real ingenuity plus individuality, providing, of course, we have the time and patience.

This article is written principally for my friends who are busy and want a garden with the least possible effort and the smallest cost. I am listing seeds and plants with the above conditions in mind, for mass planting.

Scores of other seeds and plants may be found which will thrive equally as well with as little care and cost, but to give you all of them would require a large volume. However, you may write for further information. Please mail you inquiries in care of the Garden Nook, Carmel Sun, and inclose a stamped envelope, and I will answer your questions directly.

Mass planting, if only the commonest varieties of nasturtium, petunias or Geraniums are used, is well worth your careful consideration. We have the ivy leaf geranium, colorful calendula, French marigold stately foxglove, wistful columbine, lupin, the tomboy of the flower garden, and on and on. Choose your favorite variety of seeds or plants and allow a large bed to each species.

It is early enough to plant seeds, but do it more generously than you have in the past. Not a seed here or there, but a few packages to each bed. Later, divide them if you must.

The ivy leaf or pink-lavender geranium may be purchased in flats from your nurseryman. These plants spread rapidly and bloom from about the middle of April on. A hundred or two bright blossoms planted in your parkway will be the envy of all who look upon them. This plant thrives in almost any soil without care and needs very little water.

For a unusually showy effect try a half pound of nasturtium seed. All they require is soaking over night and planting in any warm, sunny, fairly moist place. No further attention is needed. The common climbing species are very useful for window boxes, balconies, for covering banks and walls and for growing amongst shrubbery. The common dwarf speceis are earlier and usually more floriferous and very useful for borders. Note the gorgeous colors: clear gold, dark scarlet, yellow washed with red, purple, rose, etc.

The columbines are among the most beautiful and popular of all hardy plants. The tall, strong species can be used to advantage in half shady places. Seeds sown in about March occasionally bloom the first season but generally the second. The columbine prefers a light, sandy soil, moist, with good drainage, sheltered but exposed to the sun. Some of the stronger speceis, when they attain their full flowering size, may be transplanted into heavier garden soil, even heavy clay; but for rearing young seedlings, a light sandy loam is essential.

Seldom have I found columbine planted in masses and for what reason I do not know. They are most beautiful. A suggestion, too, is columbine with blue and white lupin. Won't you ty them?

Our old standby, the pink rambler, as a ground cover, has no parallel. Plant more of these bushes than you think you need and sit back year after year and reap your harvest. This particular rose requires very little attention.

Petunias give the most delightful effect for the least trouble. The very common Rosy Morn, planted in profusion is worth walking miles to see. They are particularly useful for massing against shrubbery, for they make florid undergrowth, with almost no care. Petunias should begin to bloom about three months after sowing the seeds in the open and should continue profusely for months. If picked occasionally for cut flowers they seem to live on endlessly. Petunias thrive on both ordinary and rich soil, blooming well on land too rich for other plants and doing equally as well in poor soil. They are sun-loving plants, although they bloom in partially shaded places. Their culture is simple and easy. Petunias are lovely at night, too, because they emit a powerful fragrance in the garden.

Musical Arts Dance Recital Tonight

By Billie McConnell.

The Musical Arts Club is offering a program of the dance for its recital this month. The club is presenting a group of well known teachers of the dance and their pupils this Tuesday evening at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

It is one of the first programs of its kind to be presented here. Ruth Austin, Billie McConnell, June Delight and K. McCurdy will be among the teachers to appear.

Edward Hopkins and Mary Ingels will accompany. Ruth Austin, who is teaching in Carmel, will present Vera Hunter, Betty Rae Sutton and Alice Mechenstock in a lovely number. Miss Austin has done some very fine work in producing lately. She has taught in Carmel a long time and her work is always new and interesting.

Miss Winnifred McGowan will present her pupil, Winnifred Van Ess. The child has delighted the audiences of the club many times with her creative dancing.

June Delight will also offer some fine work. A capable teacher, as she handled most of the dancing for the Sierra Pageant this past year. She is a fine ballet teacher, having studied with Theodore Kosloff, Madame Parello, Zanfretti and others who are well known in the world of the dance.

K. McCurdy, who is from Monterey, has also some interesting dances to show. She studied in Chicago under Wayburn and is teaching at present in the Monterey Presidio.

Billie McConnell, who was with the San Francisco Opera and Ballet Co. two seasons ago, is taking charge of the program, and promises a recital that will make you realize what capable teachers and talent we have in this field of work on the Monterey Peninsula.

Little attention has been paid to the dance and only through the effots of the Musical Arts Club has this beautiful art been brought to you.

GUS ENGLUND DEFINITELY IMPROVED

Carmel is rejoicing this week at the news of a definite improvement in the condition of Gus Englund, veteran police chief. His recovery is no less than a miracle. A week ago when the Sun went to press, rumors were heard that Gus had failed to stand the shock of the amputation of his leg, but, happily, these rumors proved to be "greatly exaggerated." Gus not only survived but is well on the road to recovery and his many friends join with his family in their gratitude for his returning strength.

Carmel has eight grocery stores, all making a living so far as known. Six butcher shops, meat should be cheap. Three drug stores, sell everything including medicine. Three hardware stores. Eight shops where you can buy papers, magazines, cheap candy and Christmas cigars. Ten gasoline service stations. Three wood yards. Four hotels, counting one on Mission Point. Four theaters, if you want to call the Sun-Set school a treatre. Fourteen places where gastrology holds forth. Three candy stores. Two men's furnishing goods shops. One lumber yard. Two blacksmith shops. Two livery stables. One laundry. Two clothes cleaning establishments. Two milk dairies. Two bakeries. Three weekly newspapers. Four barber shops, where they strop the razor after every stroke. One dry goods store. Then there are the bric-a-brac and ladies' ready-to-wear dress shops. Two banks, where security comes before a loan. Two dentists, who pull for a living. And there is no telling how many doctors and insurance and real estate agents there are.

Under the heading, "Give California a Chance," a San Francisco newspaper states that the S. F. Chamber of Commerce makes a sound point in urging the Administration at Washington to give some consideration to California barley growers. Then the paper goes on to say that last year Canada sold to the United States 4,750,000 bushels of barley. And further states, "There was no reason for buying Canadian barley when Carlifornia had a surplus." and adds, "The matter is of consequence to California, where barley is the principal grain crop." All right, Mister S. F. Paper, we'll grant that; BUT, what's the matter with the breweries using the barley surplus in manufacturing REAL BEER? And, by the way, have them put some Ukiah hops in the beer.

Carmel Valley Gleanings

Phyllis Meadows

On Friday afternoon members of the Blue team of the Carmelo school entertained the Red team at a delightful party. The Red team was winner of the spelling contest for the semester which just ended. It had been decided that the losing team entertain the winning one. Games were played and late in the afternoon refeshments were served. Those on the winning Red team were: Harold Meadows, Bob Gansel, Mariko Tsubouchi, Bruno Abluton, Yoneko Teubouchi and Charles Gansel. The losers were: Richard Meadows, Jack Gansel, Gerald Matney, Paul Gonzales and Bernadine Meadows. These contests create a geat deal of interest in the work and the pupils are looking forward to the end of school to see which team emerges victorious at that time.

Recent guests at Robles del Rio Inn were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd and Mr. and Mrs. Berthold of Monterey; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gregory of Berkeley; Mr. and M.s. E. E. Winters of Salinas; Marjory Norton of San Jose and Charles M. Cadman of Oakland. Robles del Rio is very pretty now as everything is fresh and green and the wild flowers are beginning to blossom. Many are enjoying the lovely swimming pool of the inn, which is now being kept heated.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Gansel and family ywho have been occupying the Heron-Conger place left Saturday for Carmel where they will now make their home. Mrs. Herbert Heron and her sister, Miss Louise Conger, will again occupy their place in the valley. They have been living in Palo, Colo., for the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Porter entertained as week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cozzens and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lacey, all of Salinas.

Mrs. Leo Vasquez entertained a few little girls Saturday in honor of her daughter, Marietta, who celebrated her seventh birthday on January 31. The girls enjoyed a picnic lunch at noon and later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served at a prettily appointed table, the birthday cake forming the centerpiece. Those enjoying the day with Marietta were Tommy and Pat Ford of Pebble Beach and Daisy Jean and Virginia Vasquez. Enjoying the afternoon with Mrs. Vasquez were Mrs. Leo Lutes and Miss Phyllis Meadows.

Miss Harriet Hatton is entertaining as house guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cadigan and Miss Hatton's niece and is well known here.

Royden Martin, who is a student at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco, spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin.

Robles del Rio was the setting for a delightful dinner party Sunday evening in honor of Ralph Hughes of Salinas. The occasion being his birthday. Present to enjoy the evening with him were his wife and Mesdames Howard Cozzens, Dean Lacey, A. C. Hughes, W. C. Theile, Jack Tripp, William Hargis of Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Robley of Monterey, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Poter of Robles del Rio.

Friends of Mrs. Frank Lange of Pacific Grove will be sorry to learn that she is convalescing at the Bay View hospital following an operation for appendicitis last week. During her illness her daughter Margaret is staying at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ora Vasquez. Mrs. Lange formerly resided in the valley and has many friends here.

A benefit dance is being held at the Carmel Valley Hall next Saturday night, February 9. It is hoped that quite a sum will be raised at this time as it is for a worthy cause.

Miss Cordelia Gilman of Berkeley and Carmel spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Wolter.

Miss Lena Salvano, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. M. Salvano, motored to San Francisco last week where they visited friends. They also spent some time in San Mateo where they were the guests of Miss Bertha Smith. Before returning home they called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Liberti in San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anthony, Jr., of San Jose, and daughters, Shirley and Patricia, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. Anthony's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anthony.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, February 10, on the subject of "Spirit."

The Golden Text will be: "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (II Corinthians 3: 17). Bible selections will include the following passages from Romans 8: 1, 14, 16, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit . . . For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. . . . The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: Man understands spiritual existence in proportion as his treasures of Truth and Love are enlarged. Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual,—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite,—in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (p. 265).

Sunset School Notes

Editor's Note: Beginning with this edition, the Carmel Sun is presenting the young authors of tomorrow's best sellers. All of the verses and prose are original compositions handed in as part of the regular work at Sunset school.

It's a good thing that the boys and girls are so in love with Sunset school, because they have only three holidays ahead of them. First there is Washington's Birthday, on Friday, February 22; then comes the Easter week recess, April 15-19, and last of all, Memorial Day, on Thusrday, May 30.

Every effort is being made to find books that children have forgotten to return to the school library. Any books located may be returned to the class room teacher, without payment of fines.

Sunset school closed the past semester with a decidedly larger enrollment than during the ear 1933-34. There are now 401 pupils enrolled, an increase of 28 over the number enrolled at the close of the first month of school.

Each child will be given a health examination some time during February unless the teacher receives from the parent a request that the child be excused from examination.

Child en using the school playground apparatus after school hours should be cautioned by parents or guardians to observe proper rules of safeey. Children have been asked not to walk in or up the slide. Each child should await his turn.

MY DAD'S CAR.

My dad has an old automobile. He has had it for six years. It is a Ford '28 model. It is a coupe. Every time we go over a bump it feels like it is going to fall apart. He had it painted green and tan. When we ride in it it squeaks and groans. Dad says if it didn't he wouldn't feel at home in it. It has gone 94,000 miles.

SOMETHING GOOD TO EAT.

Chocolate ice cream is very good to eat, especially when frozen not too hard. It has a luscious taste. It is very nice with cranberry sauce. With turkey it is good too. Do not eat more than three helpings or you will probably get sick. The best time to eat it is after dinner. A good average is about one and one-half helpings.

FACTS I HAVE LEARNED ABOUT CALIFORNIA.

The first American trapper to go through the Sierra Nevada mountains to the great valley was Jedediah Smith.

In 1849 the great Gold Rush began.

Fremont, Pattie, Sutter and Dr. Marsh were important figures in early California history.

In population California is sixth, and in size second.

California's biggest city is Los Angeles with San Francisco coming next.

Monterey was the capital of and largest city in California for over fifty years. It was the capital until 1846 when Los Angeles became the capital.

There are about six million people in California.

California was entered as a state in 1850.

California is about 750 miles long and about 200 miles wide.

Two of California's most beautiful parks are the Yosemite and Lake Tahoe.

There are twenty-one missions founded in California. Nine were founded by Father Serra.

San Francisco has the finest harbor in the world.

West of California is the Pacific ocean, north the state of Oregon, south Mexico and east Arizona and Nevada.

California is noted for its sunny climate and its delicious fruit.

The largest rivers of California are the Sacramento and the San Joaquin.

The flag of California is a bear-flag.

BEACH BABIES

Beach babies run in little tribes
Along the water's rippling sides,
All dressed in white and grayish shades,
They look like little Quaker maids.

But not like Quaker maids they run;
They have all jolly kinds of fun,
They don't demurely drop their eye
When people pass, but off they fly.

A CLEAR CASE

I like to go to the schools of today because the schools of long ago did not have the nice things we have today. They did not have nice desks and they did not have swings and slides and sand boxes. They did not have the buildings that we have today.

They had the log houses, and the master was bad as bad could be. When the stick came down on a poor innocent child it was blue murder, because when the master whipped, he whipped. I don't have to tell you twice that's why I like to go to the schools of today.

TACTFUL DICKS AT STATE CAPITAL, EH?

And then, without warning, a blameless young salesman came into the Sun office Sunday afternoon, and left this:

It seems that he had walked into the office of a prominent San Francisco contractor and sold the largest order of the year without any of the usual resistance. As a matter of fact the contractor underestimated his capacity for being surprised and had to explain his unusual willingness to be sold and he did.

He said that he had been visiting Sacramento quite frequently on business and became acquainted with a lovely blonde young lady who shortly afterward took advantage of this acquaintanceship by writing him a letter demanding $500 or she would tell all to his wife. He placed the letter in his pocket and temporarily forgot the matter. He came home a few days later and found his wife had left a note stating that she had gone to Sacramento to see one of his corresponding women.

Mr. Big Contractor gently resigned himself to his fate and waited. His wife returned on a late train that night from Sacramento and was unusually sweet, and nothing further was mentioned of the affair.

The next morning inquiry developed that the wife had gone to Sacramento and phoned the young woman, who became so insistent that the wife visit her residence that the wife becoming disturbed notified the police. The detective who visited her is now smoking good cigars and will be for a long time to come. It seems he sensed the delicacy of the situation and informed our friend"s wife that the police department had had a great deal of trouble with this same young woman writing blackmail to a great many prominent men she had never seen and that her husband probably wouldn't know the correspondent if he saw her.

WOMAN'S CLUB MONTHLY MEETING HAS VALENTINE MOTIF

The regular monthly meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club held yesterday afternoon at the Girl Scout House, was made the occasion of a delightful Valentine tea at the close of the address of the afternon. Nosegays were presented to the ladies, each concealing a number which was matched by three other bouquets, so that the tea was served to groups of four. The Hospitality committee was in charge of the dainty refreshments and flower decorations. The table was lovely with red candles and ribbons.

Mrs. Alfred E. McLaughlin was the speaker of the program and gave a most comprehensive analysis of the situation in the Far East. Mrs. McLaughlin is a delegate to the conference on Pacific Relations, and also a member of the committee of arrangements for the coming conference on the Cause and Cure of War, to be held soon in San Francisco.

Hofmann Receives Ovation

There are many fine pianists in the world, but there are few masters. Josef Hofmann on Saturday night demonstrated his absolute right to be numbered among those few.

The Carmel Music Society deserves the gratitude of the entire Peninsula for bringing artists such as Hofmann to the community. The large auditorium was packed with probably as perfect an audience as any artist could desire. Not a disturbing sound was heard during the whole of the generous program. The listeners sat enthralled with the beauty and wizardry of the performance.

It is hard to conceive of a more masterly performance of Bach than that heard Saturday night. Mechanically it was flawless, not a note marring the perfection of its basketwork.

Even his pedaling was a revelation. There are no superlatives too exaggerated to describe Hofmann's interpretation and performance of Bach. Surely he demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that Bach is rich in beauty as well as architectural wonder.

It was delightful of him to follow the majesty of Bach with the two bits of Mendelssohn. Played by Hofmann they assumed new worth and one's memories of childhood performances seemed very crude.

His Schumann of course was lovely but the precision with which every voice was announced was slightly reminiscent of Bach rather than of Schumann, the romanticist. That is just a lone opinion, however, from one who really prefers Bach, anyway.

Chopin achieved something as seen through Hofmann's eyes. There wasn't a moment of maudlin sentimentality. Instead there was exquisite beauty. The delicate filigree of his embellishments was almost breathtaking in its loveliness.

In his last group, Hofmann took the little Rubenstein Melody and gave it such tonal beauty that it became a gem worthy of its place on the program. The Liszt Mephisto Valse made a brilliant finale and brilliance is about all that can be given to most of Liszt.

The audience would not let Hofmann go at the end of his long program. Too seldom do we hear art like this. He was most generous and gracious with encores.

THE SUNSPOTTER

DISCOVERIES and DISCLOSURES. You don't know what you may have missed about town in the way of TREASURES and BARGAINS. . . The SUN SPOTTER seeks and finds good buys for the customer and good buyers for the Merchant. Find YOUR PLACE in the SUN and let the SUN SPOTTER help you keep it!

What with elections and other highly serious affairs, the Sunspotter and its chit-chat has been crowded out for the past two weeks. It won't happen again till the next special election.

Wish I didn't have to spend all my time tearing around town looking for answers and then attempting to write them. I was almost tempted to tend to my own knitting instead of minding other people's when I saw that interesting-looking Chinese raw silk at Jean Ritchie's yesterday. It makes wonderfully smart looking sports clothes. It starts out being sort of oyster-white and gets whiter and whiter with every laundering. If you really want to spend your leisure moments to advantage, Mrs. Ritchie will furnish expert instruction and all the necessary materials. She has an ad. in this issue of the Sun. Read it.

If it's at the Denny-Watrous Gallery you can count on it being unique and outstanding in interest. That''s true of all their attractions and the coming evening of Japanese temple music is no exception. Henry Cowell, alone, is worth going far to hear, and on Friday evening, February 8, he is bringing T. Tamada to Carmel with him. T. Tamada is an expert on the extremely difficult shakuhashi. It will be an evening you won't want to miss.

If you attended the President's birthday dinner at the Sunset school last Wednesday, you'll remember those grand hot biscuits. They were baked by the Betsy Ann Home Food Shop and received encore after encore. In fact, their reception might be termed an ovation. Mrs. Brown says there we about 240 of them and that wasn't nearly enough. The same shop cooked the vegetables, too.

Speaking of the Betsy Ann Home Food Shop, . . . do you know that you can get light lunches and sandwiches there as well as the heavier meals? Their soups are delicious, too. You can also get tempting lunches put up at any time.

If you have to watch that food budget, you'll find it to your advantage to visit Mikel's in Monterey. They have onl the finest of foods and their prices are extemely low for these days. It will pay you to read their ad. in this issue. Both the grocery and meat departments have listed some unusual bargains.

ORCHESTRA CONCERT

The Monterey Peninsula Orchestra is working hard for its informal concert which is set for Sunday evening, February 17. Ernst Bacon, who comes from San Francisco each week to direct, has called extra rehearsals for the next two weeks. There is a rehearsal for the strings on this Saturday evening, at eight o'clock in the Gallery.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. W. Price of San Francisco spent Saturday and Sunday in Carmel.

Carmel visitors this week were Mr. and Mrs. H. Reich of Denver, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. Cornell of Casper, Wyo. The party stayed at the La Ribera.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Iaune were here from San Joes for several days last week.

Guests at La Ribera hotel last week included a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. E. Buxton, Miss Elizabeth Buxton and Billy Buxton, all of Memphis, Tenn. and Mrs. L. H. Deming and Miss Mildred Mitchell of Berkeley.

Weekly Recipe.

Eggplant with Tomato.

1 medium eggplant.
4 tomatoes
2-4 tablespoons cooking fat
½ cup bread or cracker crumbs.
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Peel the eggplant and the tomatoes. Cut in half-inch slices and dip in the crumbs mixed with the seasoning. Brown on both sides in cooking fat. Place a layer of the browned eggplant on the bottom of a baking dish, cover with one of tomatoes. Continue adding alternate layers until the dish is nearly full. Top with the crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees for twenty minutes.

At an eating competition, a collier succeeded in disposing of a leg of mutton, a loaf of bread and a plentiful supply of vegetables, finishing up with a substantial plum pudding. He was declared the winner.

When going home he said to some of his admirers, "Now, lads, don't ye say nowt about this to my missus, or she won't gi'e me no supper."

Scout Court of Honor on Friday

The large Pacific Grove high school auditorium has been secured for the Monterey Peninsula Boy Scout Court of Honor program to be presented at 7:45 p. m., Friday, February 8.

An exceptionally fine program has been planned and it is hoped that parents and friends of the Peninsula Boy Scouts will fill the auditorium to capacity. The Presidio band will play from 7:45 to 8:00 o'clock. At eight the Boy Scouts will make a colorful and impressive entry and the Scout part of the program will be opened by a group of Sea Scouts. This will be followed by three short skits depicting phases of scouting. Three very fine bits of outside entertainment have been secured.

The speakers for the evening will be Mr. Allan Griffin and Mr. S. F. B. Morse. A group of representative citizens will appear on the platform.

Awards and merit badges will be presented to the Boy Scouts who have successfully passed certain tests. An attendance cup will become the permanent possession of the troop which has the largest number of followers present figured on a percentage basis. The local Boy Scouts are busy passing out invitation cards and it is hoped that the recipients will avail themselves of this opportunity to encourage Scouting.

THEY WILL DO IT.

Judge Wood is still interviewing offenders who insist on burning up the roads round about Carmel. Dewey Clough was fined $20.00, but is going to work it out. Judge Wood is holding his license for six months, since it is a fourth offense.

Mrs. Nora B. Ritchell of Carmel Highlands was cited Sunday for speeding. She will appear before Judge Wood at 10 oclock on February 7. Mrs. Ritchell was cited once before for failing to observe a stop sign.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuster left Carmel Monday for Fresno where Mr. Kuster will direct the Fesno Players in producing "[illegible] other Language" to be given there on February 25. Mr. Kuster will bring the production to Carmel for a guest performance on Saturday and Sunday, March 9 and 10.

The Misses Ruth Mantz and Zula Andrews of San Francisco and Miss Darley Goorgian of Oakland were guests at Pine Inn this week-end. Miss Mary Early, of Sacramento, who has been in Carmel for several weeks, returned with them.

Birthday Guests.

Miss Andra Dobbel, as well as President Roosevelt, had a birthday on January 30. Andra's was her seventh and she celebrated by having as dinner guests her chum, Polly Parker, and Mrs. Parker. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Dobbel, Sr., her brother, Charles, Jr., also helped her celebrate.

Personal Mention

CARMEL SCOUTS MEET TOMORROW

The regular monthly meeting of the Carmel Scouters will be held tomorrow, February 6, at 12:00 noon, at Whitney's candy store. Matters to be discussed at the luncheon meeting include anniversary week celebrations, the coming Court of Honor to be held Friday, February 8, and the National Jamboree.

990 NEWS A NEWSY SHEET

The Carmel Sun is in receipt of the 990 News from Company 990 of the CCC at Big Sur. It's a mighty interesting little paper and must add a lot to the pleasure of the boys in the camp. A. S. Hastings acts as advisor for the staff, which includes Horace Brackney, editor; Robert Stempel, associate editor; Mernie Pierce, sports editor; Larry Tong, business manager. Tom Harbolt and Lindley Dean are th ereporte s; George Leonard the staff artist and William Erdman the typist. We are lifting the following bits:

"Colonel Parker complimented the educational program of Co. 990 very highly at a meeting of the company commanders and camp superintendents of the Monterey district last week. He stated that our camp's school program was the best in the Ninth Corps area which includes 267 other CCC camps, More power to us!"

"Mr. Hastings brought about 50 novels from a circulating library into camp last Monday. They were donated by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Alexander of Salinas."

"Despite the heavy rain and numerous slides, Mr. Thornton's and Mr. Moore's crews of road builders are making a great showing. The road to the beach is within three miles of completion. Saunders and Whitehurst are the assistant leaders on the road."

Perry Newberry has been enjoying a visit from his mother, Mrs. T. E. Newberry, of Coldwater, Mich., and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wakeman, and their daughter, Jill Wakeman, of Burlingame.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT WHEN PLAYERS MEET

This evening at Serra Crespi hall will be held the first of the monthly meetings of the Whist section of the Ladies of the Carmel Mission. The event promises to be one of enjoyment, for, in addition to the evening of play, there will be additional entertainment when Andrew Sessink and his Glee Boys get into action with vocal and musical numbers. Mr. Sessink pleased the large attendance at the last session of the Whist section with vocal numbers. Mrs. Sessink will be the accompanist. Of course there will be delectable refreshments, served only as these ladies know how. Play will commence at 8:30.

Mrs. Hanke Entertains.

Mrs. Adolph Hanke entertained several friends at a luncheon last Thursday at the Hotel Del Monte. The affair was in honor of her motherin-law, Mrs. H. F. A. Hanke, who is here from Cincinnati. Bridge was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Invited to meet Mrs. Hanke were Mrs. Carl Stanley, Mrs. Paul Whitman, Mrs. Herman Cossman, Mrs. E. G. Burritt, Mrs. Ethel P. Young, Mrs. Lloyd Tevis, Mrs. Federick Calkins, Mrs. Robert Stanton, Mrs. M. Moll, Mrs. Golden Whitman, Miss Marguerite Moll and Miss Clara Birmingham.
